Finnish Somalia network

The aim of the Finnish Somali Network's Hiil Hooyo Healthcare Project is to make maternity clinic global. Currently, the mother and child mortality rates in Somalia and the Horn of Africa are the highest in the world and the mothers' health monitoring is almost nonexistent. During the project, midwives are trained at health clinics and e-learning is offered at three local universities. In addition there will be collaborating in the village communities and raising awareness of the importance of health care during pregnancy.
